BURNED IN LYNN CANAL.
Terrible Fate of the Steamer Clara Nevada and Forty Men.
VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 15.—The steamer Clara Nevada, of Seattle, was burned in Lynn canal, and 40 men who were on board are supposed to have perished.
The Nevada left Skagway for Juneau on February 5, and when the steamer, which arrived from Comox yesterday morning, reached Juneau, the Nevada had not arrived there. The day that she should have reached Juneau fire was seen on the waters of the canal and the opinion is general that the flames were from a burning steamer. Whether the passengers and crew reached land or whether they perished is not known. It is feared that they met with death, as there has been a terrible wind and snow-storm in the north and small boats could hardly live.
Capt. Irving, of the steamer, reports that the weather has been terrific.

Johnson threatened the postmaster recently for opposing him. He entered Mayor Root's office with a bundle of letters and the same talk, but he was badly battered up before he left.

IN THE TANANA VALLEY.
Great Britain Doesn't Own All the Gold Country.
Indoubtably Large Deposits of Gold in Alaska Rivaling Those of the British Northwest Territory—Streams with Golden Beds.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Pursuant to instructions from the acting secretary of war, a special supplementary report has been prepared by Mr. E. Hazard Wells, who acted as agent for the war department in bringing attention to Capt. Ray's dispatches. Mr. Wells has been in the country three times, has traversed interior Alaska in many directions, and has a practical knowledge of the country that is possessed by few persons. He says, among other things:
"There are undoubtedly large deposits of gold in Alaska, rivaling those of the British Northwest territory. I noticed excellent mineral indications upon the Tanana river and in other localities in 1890. I discovered a true fissure vein of quartz in eight feet in diameter, with well-defined casing rocks, upon the Upper Tanana. This quartz evidently contained metal. Specimens of which I secured to take out to San Francisco for assay were subsequently lost in a river catastrophe. Numerous creeks entering the Upper Tanana revealed colors of gold in the sands."
"All of the gold-bearing streams of Alaska go to the Arctic Ocean. Birch creek, Miller creek, Forty-mile creek, Sixty-mile creek, Seventy-mile creek, head in the vicinity of the Tanana river, and flow away to the northwest. On the southwestern side, and heading near the mouth of the Tanana, are the noted Copper and Sushitna rivers, the latter being the gold-bearing stream which recently came into prominence through the placer discoveries on Cook's inlet. The Copper river is popularly supposed to be located in a rich mine field. It is a reasonable deduction that if all the streams flowing away from the Tanana to the northeast and southwest bear gold, that the Tanana itself must carry through a gold-bearing creek, Miller creek, Forty-mile creek, Birch creek and other streams within the boundaries of Alaska in the Yukon valley still offer inducements to placer miners. I do not believe that any better mining region will be discovered in Alaska than will be found in the great Tanana valley."

A CUBAN EXPEDITION.
Sets Away From the Cruisers and Sails for the Island.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 14.—A special given to the Union and Citizens from Tampa, says:
"Almost under the nose of Edward Jaylor, superintendent of Pinkerton's Spanish spies, a large Cuban expedition left Tampa Saturday night and last night sailed from a point on Peace river."
The men, about 70 in number, walked through the streets of Tampa about two o'clock yesterday morning and boarded a special train, which left for Tampa, says:
"Almost under the nose of Edward Jaylor, superintendent of Pinkerton's Spanish spies, a large Cuban expedition left Tampa Saturday night and last night sailed from a point on Peace river."

SEARCHING FOR THE RUINS.
Looking for More Bodies of Victims of the Pittsburgh Fire.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 12.—The work of searching for bodies in the ruins of Wednesday night's awful fire continues. The debris is still piled ten feet high, however, and as more than a score of people are still missing, the work will be continued without cessation until it is positively known that no bodies remain buried beneath the debris.
More people were killed Chief Humphries of the fire department says there can be no doubt. He saw the bodies of the victims, and a great mass of humanity huddled together in a small space, and while he did not care to estimate the number of people killed, he says it will be largely in excess of any such disaster. The search for the bodies is attended by great danger, not only from weakening walls, but from 125 tanks of anhydride known to still be in the smoldering ruins. Anhydride is ammonia in its most powerful state, and its ignition would cause an explosion which would cause incalculable disaster.

Many utterances come 100 miles to be cured. And he never fails in a single case. Some stutters have to bring interpreters with them, and strangle to say that in a few hours one Bro. Randolph can make them talking very well, and in one week's time 9 out of 10 are perfectly cured. Some few require longer time. The wife of the hotel proprietor, Mrs. Randolph pay special attention to the wants of lady patients. The Capital Hotel is the best $1.00 per day house in the United States. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic for the Week Beginning Feb. 13.
Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Called to what? How?—Isa. vi, 1-8; Mark i, 16-20.

We have in the literary reference the stories of the calling of Isaiah and of Andrew, Peter, and John. The latter two of these callings are of a different order, a wonderful ecstatic vision of God on His throne, with the angels about it constantly exclaiming: "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of Hosts. The whole earth is full of His glory." Amid such surroundings Isaiah feels his own unworthiness and cries out, "Woe is me, for I am undone!" An angel symbolically purifies him, and then comes the voice of the Lord, saying, "Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?" And without hesitation he accepted the commission, saying: "Here am I. Send me."

As Jesus was walking along the shore of Galilee saw He said, "Peter and Andrew casting a net into the sea, and said, 'Come ye after Me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.'" He straightway they forsook their nets and followed Him. He also called James and John as they were mending their boats, and they left all and followed Him. We may learn:

1. God calls Christians to definite, specific service for Him. These were not calls to salvation. These men were already servants of God. They were called to definite service of those who had already consecrated themselves to God. Isaiah was called to perform some particular mission for God. The apostles were called, as Christ said, to become "fishers of men." They were called to do the same work that Jesus was doing while upon earth so that they would be equipped to carry forward His work when He Himself was gone. God calls Christians to service. It is not enough to be saved. After we are saved we must work out our own salvation with fear and trembling. We must not be saved, but because we are saved. God has a definite specific work for each servant of His to do, and happy is that servant who knows it and does it.
2. God calls men to service in different ways. There is a vast difference in the way the call of Isaiah and that of the apostles. In the one case there is the wondrous ecstatic vision and under the excitement of such surroundings the dramatic call, "Whom shall I send?" and the response, "Here am I; send me." In the other instance, as with men engaged in the ordinary duties of life, Jesus quietly says, "Follow Me," and they as quietly left all and followed Him. God may call in different ways, yet it is God who calls us. If it is not with the same voice, by which motion and voice are not to fail to call to hear God in it. Every call to duty, to service, is a call from God, no matter how it comes. Let us imitate the examples of Isaiah and the apostles in their prompt and faithful responses.

SMALL-POX INCREASES.

Middleborough Threatened With a Serious Scourge.

Middleborough, Ky., Feb. 14.—Seven new cases of small-pox is the total number of discoveries to date. This makes the total number of cases in Middleborough twenty-seven. Three of the cases discovered today are among the whites. Eighteen of the cases are in the pest-house, which is too small to accommodate more than that number and the balance are continued in various parts of the city under police surveillance. All the local physicians have been kept busy all day vaccinating and that branch of work has just fairly begun.

EX-CONGRESSMAN M'SHANE,

Who has Had Many Years Business Experience in Mexico, REFUTES BRYAN'S CONCLUSIONS, Which are Advanced After Five Day's Stay in the Land of Free Silver and Bull Fights.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—Some Mr. Bryan's Democratic friends and associates who have had practical business experience in Mexico do not agree with the glowing picture which he brought back from that country, nor do they agree with his theory that the free coinage of silver is responsible for whatever of apparent or real prosperity exists there. Ex-Congressman M'Shane, who formerly represented the Omaha, Nebraska, district in Congress, but who now has large mining interests in Mexico and spends much of his time there, says that his friend Mr. Bryan is entirely mistaken in the conclusion at which he arrives. Considering the fact that Mr. M'Shane is a Democrat, a fellow-Nebraskan with Mr. Bryan, and has had practical business experience in Mexico for about as many years as Mr. Bryan spent days in his recent trip, his conclusions concerning matters so elaborately discussed by Mr. Bryan on his return from the land of the 45-cent dollar are interesting. Mr. M'Shane has been spending a few days here renewing his acquaintance with members of Congress, and in a conversation regarding Mr. Bryan's recent utterances regarding Mexican prosperity he said:

"It is of this sort: 'The government is largely back of it, and to the paternal fostering of the Diaz administration it is mainly due. The government subsidizes breweries, railroads, industrial plants, and aids in every way to buy up the material resources of the country. Money is used with a liberal hand, and as a consequence there is much activity and great apparent prosperity. The fact that Mexico is on a silver basis does not figure; it can't help being on that kind of a basis, but I should hate to see the United States resort to any such policy.'"

"Ten years of experience in that country has forever set me against the adoption of a monetary system which is not only in disrepute among the leading nations of the world, but which is about to be discarded by countries like Japan, Brazil, and some of the smaller Spanish-American governments that were formerly on a silver basis. The masses in Mexico are in a worse condition than I trust in any other land of our laboring population. This I can explain by referring to matters that have come under my personal observation."

"When the Sherman purchasing act was in force, some seven years ago, silver was worth in Mexico 100 cents in Mexican money. The dollars of the two countries were on a parity. All this time we employed about 300 men in our mines, their pay ranging from $1 to $2.50 per day. It took approximately $10,000 a month to meet the payroll. The money to cancel this expense was shipped from Omaha, and it was exchanged for $100,000 general merchandise stores along with our mining concern, and, at the time I speak of, sold to our Mexican employees bacon for twenty cents a pound."

"What are the conditions today? We still hire 300 men and give them exactly the same scale of wages that they obtained prior to the slump in silver caused by the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. Our payroll still aggregates $10,000 a month. To meet this we have shipped us a like sum of the United States money and here is where the difference comes in. Instead of exchanging that amount at our bank for its nominal equivalent we get for it not $10,000, but $22,000 of Mexican money. We have here made a clear gain of $12,000. Our employees still render us 100 cents' worth of work, for which they used to get 100 cents, and do yet the same amount of work. The reality they receive less than half of what should be theirs, seeing that the Mexican coin in which they are paid has shrunk to less than half of its former value."

"But there is more still. When the Mexican miner goes to buy a pound he finds that in tendering payment he cannot get it with depreciated money for 20 cents a pound; the price now is 45 cents. It would still be so if he could tender a dollar as good as that given him for his labor at the time of the repeal of the Sherman law. The $12,000 I spoke of simply comes out of the labor of the country, and when the toiling class of any nation is forced to such a condition it is stretching a point call the people prosperous. If the fact and right thing were done by these hard-working miners their wages would be doubled. The man that now gets $2 a day is justly entitled to $4, but labor will bring only what price is fixed in market, like any commodity, and employers are not yet far enough advanced in philanthropy to voluntarily give more than the customary rate."

"So the talk about the prosperity of Mexico in so far as it applies to the vast body of its citizens—the common people—is a myth. If there is prosperity at all it is not due to the silver standard, but in spite of it."

Beauty of the Kentucky Pike.

From Good Roads.

Nothing could be more charming than the Kentucky pike, as described by Bicycling World: "The roadbeds are raised about two feet from the earth, and the surface is made smooth. Violets and clover make their homes near the wagon tracks and, when in blossom the ways are as attractive indeed. Blue grass grows to the right and to the left, while billowy fields of grain make the landscapes indescribably beautiful. Painted houses with cupolas are scattered here and there. The aroma of bourbon, mingled with the fragrant fields of mint, fills the lungs of the traveler and gives him a feeling of ecstasy. Winding brooks, with their crystal waters babbling over craggy rock, make music which delights the ear. The sky is blue to the eye, the sun is soft to the skin, and songs from the yellow throats of the thrush and mocking bird thrill the soul."

Full many a man his career began

EDWARD BOK TO LECTURE

The Popular Young Editor Comes South to Fleet South ern People.

Edward Bok, the famous editor of Ladies' Home Journal, finally been persuaded to appear on the lecture platform, and will make his debut as a lecturer in the South next October. He will lecture in twenty of the principal cities and in a few neighboring Western States. The title of his lecture will be "Keys to Success"—the most interesting subject he could have chosen to talk about. Mr. Bok is perhaps the most successful and popular young man in America. We read him as they do no other writer, and it may be confidently said that around the person of no other man in America is a greater interest and curiosity than that of thousands of writers on the part of the masses. He will not be disappointed in his looks and manners, Mr. Bok possesses all the qualities they like. He is as popular socially with women as with men. Up to this time he declined the most flattering offers to lecture, but last week the Southern Lyceum Bureau, of Louisville, succeeded in closing a contract with the Philadelphia editor. Bok has chosen the Southern entirely because he wishes to acquaint himself with the Southern ways. He has stipulated that his lecturing tour shall be arranged as to allow him time for social engagements and observation. He will not speak more than three times each week, and spend seven weeks in the South.
